

PEOPLE AND PLACES FOR NETWORKING

- Potential employers of interest
- Family
- Friends
- Neighbors
- People in your community
- Alumni groups
- Career services at your school or college
- Social groups
- Clubs
- Hobbies
- Sports teams and involvements
- Associations
- Professional groups
- Conferences and conventions
- Seminars and workshops
- Colleagues
- Past employers
- Classmates
- Teachers
- Former co-workers
- Customers and clients
- People at your place of worship
- People you know through your children, such as teachers, coaches, scouts, day-care providers, and other parents
- People you know through your spouse or significant other, such as their co-workers
- People with whom you do volunteer work and community service
- People you meet in daily life, such as while traveling, at a coffee house, at the dog park
- People who provide services to you, such as your dentist, barista, handyman, accountant, mechanic, veterinarian, insurance agent, and hair stylist
- People you meet at social events, including parties, picnics, weddings, and sporting events
- People you've helped in the past
- Recruiters
- Employment agencies
- Job fairs
- Hiring events
- American Job Center (see www.careeronestop.org)
- Business journals and newsletters
- Business websites and blogs
- Specialty publications for your field and related industries
- Specialty job sites for your field and related industries
- Companies and organizations running numerous help-wanted ads
- Newspapers

- LinkedIn
- Facebook
- Twitter
- Google+
- Instagram (and all other social media)
- Informational interviews
- Freelancing
- Internships
- Part-time jobs
- Consulting work